The Mystery Box closes itself after it's used once. The only way to open it again is to wait a set amount of time, and then send another Pokémon to Pokémon: Let's Go, Pikachu! or Pokémon: Let's Go, Eevee! You can also get a Mystery Box for sending Pokémon to a friend's Nintendo Switch game, but you can only have one Mystery Box at a time!
Meltan will begin to appear once a Mystery Box is opened in Pokémon GO, but be careful—they'll only appear for the player that opened the Mystery Box. Touch a Meltan you see on the field map, and then try to catch it with a Poké Ball! Let's dive into the stats, locations and evolution for Machamp in Pokémon Let's Go: Pikachu & Eevee. This guide will include everything you need to know about Machamp in the new Pokémon series. If you are interested in other guides such as this, check out our Pokémon Let's Go Guides.

There is only one way to get a Machamp in Pokémon Let's Go. Machamp is the final evolution of Machop, who will evolve into Machoke before Machamp. There are plenty of ways to find Machops and even Machokes in the wild, but there is no way to get a wild Machamp.If players want a Machamp, they will need to trade their Machoke with a friend or get a Machoke from a friend through trade, which will cause it to evolve. Machoke is one of the few Pokémon that will not evolve by leveling up, but by trading. If a player trades their Machoke to a friend, the Machoke will evolve into Machamp.Machamp is one of the Pokémon players can ride on in Pokémon Let's Go. Cover photo courtesy of Nintendo
Pokemon GO Credit: Niantic Trade evolution! You love to see it. This feature has been part of the mainline Pokémon games for years, but it's only now just coming to Pokémon GO. Basically, you've got to remember that the original purpose of the Pokémon games was to find a good use case for the Game Boy link cable, and to that end the franchise has always encouraged trading in any way it can. That's why certain Pokémon only evolve when they're traded between two trainers, ensuring that catching them all requires either two people or one person with two Game Boys. But that was then and this is now, so let's talk about Trade evolution in Pokémon GO. Trading does not seem to be required for evolving any Pokémon in these games, as per the Pokémon Blog. So if you want to do it the traditional way, by saving up 100 candies, you can still do that. What trade evolution does, instead, is negate the candy cost for evolving a certain Pokémon if you receive that Pokémon in a trade. So if you receive a Machoke in a trade, you can evolve it to a Machamp for free. Here are the Pokémon that currently benefit from trade evolution: Kadabra Machoke Graveler Haunter Boldore Gurdurr Karrablast Shelmet It's going to be a bit tricky to get this to work unless you've got at least one good friend that you play this game a lot with. Because you need to trade for the Pokémon in order to take advantage of the discount: that means your friend is the one that needs to trade the creature. The easiest way to do this is to coordinate and trade two evolving creatures back and forth, but that makes it a bit tougher for those without people to coordinate with. Luckily, the old methods still work, so the anti-social can still benefit. And the tradeable Pokémon only require 25 candies to get to where they need to be, so random people at raids might still be willing to help you out. We'll have some more data as we get enough candies to evolve new creatures, but for now it seems like a lot of this is fairly straightforward. As you work towards completing the Kanto region Pokédex in Pokémon Let's Go, Pikachu! and Pokémon Let's Go, Eevee!, there are four pocket monsters that you will need to trade to reach their evolution. Those are Haunter, Kadabra, Machoke and Graveler, which you must first trade with another player before they will evolve into Gengar, Alakazam, Machamp and Golem to fill four entries in your Pokédex. That's important for those wanting to earn themselves the Shiny Charm, and, for those wondering how to trade, after opening the in-game menu (X Button) select Communicate and then Play With Others. You will then be asked to whether you want to trade with a player that's nearby (local wireless communication) or far away (online), and, once you have decided, you can open the Link Trade to enter the link code from Pokémon sprites that they will need to use. Once you have traded Haunter, Kadabra, Machoke and Graveler across, they will evolve into Gengar, Alakazam, Machamp and Golem once the other player has received them. After which, they can trade them back to you to help complete your Pokédex.

Pokémon Go's Machop Community Day takes place on Jan. 16 from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m. in your local time. As usual with Community Days, the featured Pokémon will be showing up a lot in the wild, with a high chance for it to be Shiny. How do I get a Shiny Machop? Since Machop will be popping up everywhere, just tap every Machop you see until you get a Shiny one. You'll find one sooner or later, as the Shiny rate on Community Days is boosted to about a one in 24 rate. Graphic: Julia Lee/Polygon | Image sources: The Pokémon Company/Niantic
What special move does Machamp learn when it's evolved? When evolved from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. on Jan. 16, Machamp will learn Payback. This dark-type move will not affect Machamp's raiding skill, but will have some uses in PvP. How do I make the most of this Community Day? Machop's Community Day has a bonus that triples Stardust received from catching Pokémon, so it'll be worth popping a Star Piece as you catch the Pokémon to increase your gains even more. Trading range will also be increased to 40 kilometers from Jan. 15 until Jan. 18. Trade with any friends within that distance to get rid of the 100 Candy requirement to evolve Machoke to Machamp. Any Machoke you trade will be able to evolve without using candy, which is a great perk for anyone trying to build a beefy team of Machamp. Machamp is best set with Counter and Dynamic Punch for taking gyms and raiding. Payback may be an OK move for PvP, as it'll give it a good type matchup against ghost-type Pokémon. If you're deciding which Shiny Machop to evolve at the end of the day, try using one of the new search strings. Sort your 'mons by "recent" using the lower right icon, and then type "4*" in the search box at the top. This will let you know if you have any 100% IV Machop. Most people won't be so lucky, so next you'll want to type "3*" in the search box, which will show you any recent 'mons that are 80% or above. Appraise these to see which one is best, and then evolve your new buddy! what level does machop evolve in let's go pikachu. how to get machop in pokemon let's go. what level does machop evolve let's go. how does machop evolve
